Rules concerning use of areas belonging to the Danish Nature Agency for "Fri teltning - Camping for the Quiet Forest Hiker"

The general framework for the use of nature is laid down in the Danish Nature Protection Act and the associated statutory orders.

The Danish Nature Agency has modified these rules regarding camping in the specified forests.

Out of consideration for impact on nature, protection of flora and fauna, consideration for neighbours etc., there have to be certain restrictions, which are as follows:

- You are only allowed to stay for one night at the same location, with maximum two tents at the same location and only using tents designated for a maximum of three persons.
- Tents must be out of sight from forestry and residential buildings, including eg. neighbours, camp sites and roads for vehicles.
- Open fires and use of Trangia alcohol stoves are allowed - be aware of forest fire.
- Use of motorised vehicles is not allowed on the forest roads.
- Camping is not allowed on the beaches and dunes.
- When you leave, please take your litter with you and leave the location tidy.

In some of the forests or neighbouring forests there are barbeque sites, litter bins etc. These can be used by "the Quiet Forest Hiker". Motorised vehicles must be parked in the designated parking areas.

If you are in doubt about where you may place your tent and the restrictions on camping, do not hesitate to contact the forestry officers of the Danish Nature Agency.

The Danish Nature Agency may sometimes have to change these rules when certain situations render it is necessary, therefore you must always act according to any instructions given by the forestry personnel.
